PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

TWO NAMES ADDED ON C. C. BOARD

Ralph Rife, near Cedarville, and Edwin Deane, near Clifton, both prominent Greene county men, were elected to the Cedarville college board of trustees at the semi-annual board meeting Friday morning. Mr. Rife is a graduate of Cedarville, class of 1922.

Ira D. Vaythinger, president of the college, told trustees that housing is still the number one problem for the school and the board made that and the increased enrollment subject for special study.

The new trustees do not succeed others since the college board has been operating below its permitted total of 18. With the appointments of Mr. Rife and Mr. Deane, the board now has 12 members.

Other trustees present were J. A. Finney, Xenia lawyer who is president of the board; Dr. Leo Anderson, vice president; Rankin McMillan, secretary; and G. H. Hartman, treasurer, all of Cedarville; John W. Dorst and Dr. R. W. Ustick, both of Springfield; Willard Barlow, Columbus; Dr. John W. Bickett, Clifton; and Karl Bull and Walter Hitt of Cedarville.

This service will be at 6:30. Then at 7:30 there will be the union service in the Clifton United Presbyterian church, in which the choir will present a Christmas cantata.

As next Wednesday is Christmas day, there will be no midweek service. This takes place as the Christmas Eve service, in which the Holy Spirit has liberty "with power" penetrating to your inner being; as Yewmouth translates it. No part of man's inner being is then left weak or without the light and grace of the Holy Spirit.

This is the strong foundation of all spiritual development and usefulness. Roots are put down deep (as we change the figure of speech) to hold the life steady, and to provide the nourishment for spiritual growth.

This is all possible because Christ makes his home in the heart. Think of the privilege of making such a guest feel at home in your heart! Let us be grateful, and let us recognize him and honor his presence.

3. Knowledge (vv. 16, 18). The believer has knowledge not only of the knowable, but also that which passes knowledge, namely, the love of Christ.

We shall grow in grace as we grow in the knowledge of the love of Christ (II Pet. 3:18). With all of God's people—what a great and delightful company—are to comprehend, to really grasp, the length and breadth and height and depth of his love.

We say with the psalmist, "Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high, I cannot attain to it" (Ps. 139). But then we remember that it is as Christ dwells "in our hearts by faith" (v. 17) that we are able to comprehend such truth.

Most Christians live on a very low plane, going along with a limited and unsatisfactory Christian experience when all this is available to them by faith.

4. Faith (v. 20). Here we see why it is possible to do the impossible, to know that which passes knowledge, to see the unseen. It is by faith in him who "is able to do infinitely beyond all our highest prayers and thoughts" (Weymouth, v. 20) that we attain unto this blessed place of blessing.

So this is the "Thank you" that God wants this Christmas. He wants the unbeliever to turn to him in faith, and the believer to really be what he ought to be and can be in Christ. Then a man's whole life will say, "Thank you, Lord, for saving my soul."

For the tenth successive year the writer of these notes expresses to his readers everywhere his good wish for a most blessed Christmas both in heart and home. May the Lord give us all special grace this year to thank him for his great Christmas Gift by a life wholly dedicated to him.

Mrs. A. B. Creswell is a patient in Springfield City hospital and has been reported in a critical condition.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
For his selection of the Christmas Lesson
Revised by Western Seminary, U.S.A.

Lesson for December 22

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

A MESSAGE OF LOVE (CHRISTMAS LESSON)

LESSON TEXT—John 3:16; Ephesians 3:14-17.
MEMORY SELECTION—Thank be unto God for his unsearchable gifts—II Corinthians 9:15.

When Jesus was born in Bethlehem there were only a few men and women of faith who could see in the Babe of the manger the glory and the power of Christ. It was a dark and unbelieving age into which he was born—and who will say that it is different in these days in which we celebrate Christmas, 1946.

Indifferent, ignorant and sinful people are glad to try to capitalize on the spirit of Christmas, but they still despise and turn away from the Son of God, Jesus the Saviour.

It behooves us, therefore, to present once more the message of the Saviour who came at Christmas, that all men may hear of him.

Our lesson speaks of God's great gift of love and tells what manner of men and women we should be because he did give his Son for us.

I. God's Christmas Gift to Us (John 3:16).
God loved—so God gave. Love prompts the heart to give. One may give without loving. It is true, but one cannot love without giving.

God's love for man existed from all eternity. It provided a way of redemption for man and in due season the Saviour came, to live, to love, to die for all mankind.

It was no chance event, no accident in history; it was the heart of God speaking through his "unspokeen gift" (II Cor. 9:15) of his only begotten Son.

That leads us to our second Scripture and our second point. We who receive gifts try to express our appreciation in a polite and proper way.

II. Our "Thank You" to God (Eph. 3:14-17).
Paul's prayer for the Ephesian church and for us—who are in the "family" (v. 15) tells us how we may live our lives as Christians and express our gratitude to God.

The church of Christ, made up of those who are believers in him, should show its relationship to God, and its appreciation of his grace by its life.

1. Strength (v. 16). It does not honor God nor is he properly represented in the world by those who are spiritually weak and ineffective.

It is the privilege of the believer to be "strengthened with might" (v. 16) and this takes place as the Holy Spirit has liberty "with power" penetrating to your inner being; as Yewmouth translates it. No part of man's inner being is then left weak or without the light and grace of the Holy Spirit.

2. Love (v. 17). This is the strong foundation of all spiritual development and usefulness. Roots are put down deep (as we change the figure of speech) to hold the life steady, and to provide the nourishment for spiritual growth.

This is all possible because Christ makes his home in the heart. Think of the privilege of making such a guest feel at home in your heart! Let us be grateful, and let us recognize him and honor his presence.

3. Knowledge (vv. 16, 18). The believer has knowledge not only of the knowable, but also that which passes knowledge, namely, the love of Christ.

We shall grow in grace as we grow in the knowledge of the love of Christ (II Pet. 3:18). With all of God's people—what a great and delightful company—are to comprehend, to really grasp, the length and breadth and height and depth of his love.

We say with the psalmist, "Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; it is high, I cannot attain to it" (Ps. 139). But then we remember that it is as Christ dwells "in our hearts by faith" (v. 17) that we are able to comprehend such truth.

Most Christians live on a very low plane, going along with a limited and unsatisfactory Christian experience when all this is available to them by faith.

4. Faith (v. 20). Here we see why it is possible to do the impossible, to know that which passes knowledge, to see the unseen. It is by faith in him who "is able to do infinitely beyond all our highest prayers and thoughts" (Weymouth, v. 20) that we attain unto this blessed place of blessing.

So this is the "Thank you" that God wants this Christmas. He wants the unbeliever to turn to him in faith, and the believer to really be what he ought to be and can be in Christ. Then a man's whole life will say, "Thank you, Lord, for saving my soul."

For the tenth successive year the writer of these notes expresses to his readers everywhere his good wish for a most blessed Christmas both in heart and home. May the Lord give us all special grace this year to thank him for his great Christmas Gift by a life wholly dedicated to him.

ALONG FARM FRONT

E. A. Drake, Co. Agricultural Agent

Farm Forum Christmas Party
The Farm Forum Christmas party will be held at Geyer's banquet hall Monday evening, Dec. 23 at 6:30. This is the annual ladies night and the annual ladies night members will be guests at the evening program.

Glenn Massman, secretary of the Dayton Foreman's club and a noted humorist will be guest speaker. The Greenville Kiwanis quartette will put on a program of music and novelty acts.

Xenia township will be in charge of the evening's program. Committee members are Walter Nash, James Anderson, Harold Fawcett, Cecil Anklin and J. R. Kimber. Tickets for the banquet may be secured at the county agent's office.

Labor-Saving Show at County Garage
The Greene County Farm and Home Labor-Saving Show will be held at the county highway garage, Cincinnati Ave., Friday, Jan. 31, according to Roscoe Turner, chairman of the building committee.

The show is being sponsored by the county farm labor committee in cooperation with farm organizations of the county. The project is designed to bring together many labor-saving methods and devices used by farm people in their efforts to do a better job of farming and home-making.

Words, pictures, charts, working models, and full-sized equipment will be used to tell the story. A part of the show will be provided by the state extension service, but an important feature of the show will be the exhibits of labor-saving devices built and used by people of Greene county.

Building Institute to Discuss Kitchens
Kitchen planning will be discussed by Julia Ford, home management specialist of Ohio State university at the sixth of the series of Farm Building institute meetings Wednesday evening, Dec. 18.

The meeting will be held at Xenia Central high school cafeteria at 8 o'clock.

Miss Pond will discuss kitchens, their arrangement, equipment, materials and storage space.

Bulletin Shows Devices To Save Time and Work
Devices built by farmers to save work or time in the fields, farm buildings and farm homes are shown in extension bulletin No. 272 which may be obtained at the county agent's office.

Farmers have shown great ingenuity in developing labor saving tools and equipment. The buck rake built to reduce the number of men needed in haying on northwestern Ohio farms has been copied thousands of times and is used in nearly every state. A picture of a homemade elevator to handle ear corn printed by a farm magazine drew more than 3,000 requests for plans to the agricultural department at Ohio State university. Most of the devices shown in bulletin No. 272 can be made by any farmer who is handy with tools.

Farm Earnings Higher Than in 1913-20
Each person working on farms in 1945 earned an average of $1,545, while the peak for farm work was $869 for farm workers and $1,411 for those in industry.

Rural economists at Ohio State university say the earnings for farm workers are likely to fall more rapidly during a depression than the wages of industrial workers. Farm earnings come from the sale of products whose price is set by the buyer. Prices of industrial goods are set by the manufacturer.

Cold Weather Cuts Egg Output
Sudden temperature changes in the poultry laying house can reduce egg production abruptly and may result in few eggs for a long period while hens recover from colds.

Hens need fresh air, but the ventilation system should not permit the cold air to blow directly on the birds. Broken windows, ill fitting doors, and holes in walls should be repaired before winter.

More Workers on Farms As Wages Remain at Peak
More people were employed on U. S. farms Nov. 1, 1946, than the average number so employed during the busy months of any year since 1941, but wage rates for farm workers remained at their high point of 278 per cent above the average level for the years 1910-14.

The average wages being paid in U. S. for farm workers on Oct. 1, 1946, was $104 a month without board. The average day rate for farm workers was $4.94 without board. In comparison with 1910-14 averages only 83 per cent as many farmers and members of their families were working on farms Nov. 1, 1946, and only 74 per cent as many hired workers.

Announce DDT Use
Recommendations for the use of DDT in Ohio in 1947 will advise applying this insecticide to kill potato flea beetle and leaf hopper, feeding moth in severely infested orchards, tomato pinworms, adult Japanese beetle, European corn borer, and thrips. It also will be recommended for fly control in buildings.

Red Clover Seed Short
Despite the fact that government figures reveal greater production of red clover seed this year there will still be a shortage of adapted seed in Ohio.

With a shortage of Ohio Seed, farmers are advised not to buy seed of unknown origin and adaptation. Conditions in some areas where seed is grown do not compare to those prevailing in Ohio.

COLLEGE NEEDS MORE HOUSING

The student enrollment of Cedarville college will reach an all time high next semester if college authorities are able to obtain rooming facilities.

For three or four years the citizens of Cedarville college were disturbed by the low enrollment in the college; then there was no housing problem. Today the college has reached the place where it will have to start refusing admission to girls and others because no rooming facilities are available. In previous years the students lived in private homes. Today the college houses nearly all the boarding students in the college. In Harriman hall, Rife hall and Reid hall, where are all those houses that used to house students? Some say they have not the time or are unable to look after the rooms. Others say that their bedroom furniture can't stand the wear and tear. But all of these problems can be met.

As far as the first objection is concerned the boys in private homes can do the same that they do in the college dorms—keep their own rooms clean and furnish their own linen and see that it is kept laundered. This way the laundry need not enter the student's room. Now to the last objection, the wear and tear on bedroom furniture, the college will furnish single beds and mattresses. These the college has bought from the government, and the college will be happy to loan the same to anyone who will take students next semester which begins Jan. 24.

Four young married GI's have applications on file for admittance in January. We can accept them providing we can find four two room apartments.

Anyone willing to rent to students call Mr. Beattie at 6-2711 or the college office 6-1041.

PEACE ON EARTH AND GOOD WILL TO MEN

With the war unofficially ended, we soon will observe our first postwar Christmas season. While hundreds of thousands of our boys have returned, the nation still has large armies scattered all over the world. While we debate peace and elimination of war in groups of representatives from other nations, nothing yet has been put in concrete terms and many there are that fear we face failure due to the aspirations of other nations for control of smaller nations as has existed for centuries.

At home the nation faces anything but peace in economic circles. We have promises of more labor strikes in the near future and these will come as long as labor and management have lapsed government agencies to deal with. The nation evidently realized what we now face and removed much of the responsibility of the present administration by the election of a Republican Congress. Certain labor laws must be repealed and other amended and all such controversies left to labor and management for settlement. The part the government has had in such controversies has been a perfect failure.

As we enter the Christmas season we do so with the hope this year, as we have hoped in the past, that we are nearing the time when we can enjoy the blessings, temporal and spiritual as promised in the oft repeated "Peace on Earth and Good Will to Men."

A joyful Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year to Herald patrons.

WON'T YOU OPEN YOUR HOME?

Cedarville college must have more housing for students for the second semester or many will have to be turned away. The college management has gone the limit at present to provide rooms for those who want to come here for school, especially boys who have returned from military service. Appeal is made now to local residents to open their homes. No doubt there are upstairs rooms in many homes that are not in use and could be made fit without much expense whereby a revenue could be secured and some one or more GIs made happy.

The enrollment for the second semester will outdistance the first if there were rooms available. It is a compliment to the college and the community that these boys desire to enter school here. The community should do its part but what you do must be done at once for there is now a waiting list. Discuss the situation with the college authorities, also with your neighbors. Make yourself a committee of one to find more rooms for students. No doubt some of our farmer friends might have extra rooms. Some students have transportation while others do not.

This is an appeal for local pride in support of a worthwhile educational institution.

"As for our store, we have a 'first' of our own to offer the motorists of this community—'first in service!'"

"ME, a Capitalist?"

Yes, if you own a bond, an insurance policy or a share of stock in some company—you are a person with capital, a capitalist! If you have a savings account, if you own a house or a vacant lot, you are a capitalist, "one who has capital invested." If you own an automobile, tools or equipment that helps you earn a living, you possess capital. Every American can be a capitalist. If you have learned to live on a little less than you make and to put your savings to work for you, you can become a stock holder, a bond holder or a real estate owner.

Capitalism is the American system in which money—earned and saved by the individual—is constantly reinvested for profit. You earn wages, salary or professional fees. When you spend that money for groceries, rent and other goods or services, your capital goes back into producing more groceries, buildings, machines, and tools.

The money you save each week for bonds, insurance or an interest-bearing savings account, works directly for you.

When you hear loose talk about the capitalistic system, remember you are a capitalist. Whether they claim to speak for government, industry or labor, question the motives of those who would substitute some other system for our American freedom of enterprise.

Think carefully about any restriction or legislation proposed for business or the individual that would take away freedoms that belong to Americans as birthrights. Let your congressmen and senators, also your newspapers and radio stations, know what you think.
